

Angry Horse Brewing Named Finalist in LA Times 2023 Best of the Southland Reader Survey

MONTEBELLO, CA, UNITED STATES, August 3, 2023 /EINPresswire.com/ -- Montebello, CA - [Aug. 3, 2023] - Angry Horse Brewing, Montebello's award-winning craft brewery, has garnered yet another prestigious recognition by being named a regional finalist in the LA Times 2023 Best of the Southland reader survey. This coveted distinction is a testament to Angry Horse Brewing's commitment to craftsmanship, community, and delivering exceptional brews that leave a lasting impression on beer enthusiasts and loyal patrons alike.

Best of the Southland, presented by the renowned LA Times, seeks to honor businesses that offer superior products or services in their respective regions and categories. The finalists listed in the survey were nominated and voted for by LA Times readers, making this recognition all the more meaningful.

"We are humbled and elated to be named a finalist in the LA Times 2023 Best of the Southland reader survey," said Nathan McCusker, President and Co-Founder of Angry Horse Brewing. "This acknowledgment is a testament to the dedication of our talented team and the unwavering support of our community. At Angry Horse Brewing, we brew with passion and purpose, and we are deeply committed to being a positive force in the lives of our patrons and the vibrant Montebello community we call home."

This honor comes hot on the heels of Angry Horse Brewing's triumph at the Chelamania contest in May, where their Caballo Bravo Mexican lager emerged victorious among a carefully curated selection of eight L.A. breweries renowned for their exceptional Mexican lagers. The Caballo Bravo, described as a refreshing Mexican lager with a radiant golden hue, has earned accolades
